ART CANS!

“ART CAN!”
Beautifying St. Augustine Beach,
One Can at a Time

“ART CAN!” is an exciting new beautification project in the City of St. Augustine Beach. Many of the trash cans in the City of St. Augustine Beach are an eyesore; they are dented and filled with holes. Rather than purchase brand new cans, why not recycle and improve the old ones? Art Galleries of St. Augustine (AGOSA) President (Sylvia Gortz), Vice President (Laura O'Neal), and Ann Palmquist brought the idea of asking local artists paint the old trash cans to AGOSA. The association members were enthusiastic to make our community a more beautiful place and ART CAN! took off.

The City of St. Augustine Beach Public Works, under the leadership of Tom Large, began collecting six trash cans at a time and cleaning them so they could be painted by local AGOSA artists. Once the first wave of cans is complete, there will be a second wave of art cans hitting the streets, and so on...until the City of St Augustine Beach has all ART CANS! AGOSA presented The City of St. Augustine Beach with the first three painted cans at the Special Commission Meeting on April 29.

"I hope that this project and others like it will serve our local art community in a positive way," said Vice President Laura O'Neal, "by bringing us together to paint, create, have fun and support one another, as well as beautify our CITY!"

Be sure to start looking on the sides to the road when driving along A1A in St. Augustine Beach, and see if you can spot them! You can also share a pic of your favorite one on Instagram and tag @CityOfSAB and @agosa_art_walk.

AGOSA is a non-profit organization that works to provide opportunities for professional local artists to show their work at places like The Limelight Theatre, in addition to their usual gallery locations. If you are interested in painting a can, or interested in joining AGOSA, please contact Laura O'Neal at lauraoneal811@gmail.com or Sylvia Gortz at thegallerygroup303@gmail.com

Settlement of Florida Stamp

St. Augustine Stamp

On August 28, 1965 The United States Post office issued a 5-cent stamp commemorating the 400th anniversary of the oldest continuously occupied European settlement in the new world; St. Augustine.

The Stamp was placed on sale at the Saint Augustine post office. A stamp identical in design, except for the necessary differences in the caption and denomination, was released simultaneously in Spain. Designed by Brook Temple, the stamp depicts a Spanish explorer with Spain's royal banner in the background.

Article by The Florida Historical Society.

Hope you enjoyed this part of St. Augustine's history. Beverly Raddatz, MMC, City Clerk.
